Dear Parent/Carer

During this year, we have seen a significant drop in the number of students that have been completing their Hegarty Maths homework. We suspect that this is in part due to the lack of sanctions and support that we are able to put in place after school.

Starting from next week, we will be sending a text message out to inform you if your child has not completed their homework from the previous week. These messages will be sent on a Thursday and we hope that through a combined effort between school and home, we will start to see an upturn in homework completion.

We also plan to celebrate the many students who have continued to complete their homework to a high standard regularly as we move towards the end of term.

Please do not hesitate to contact me should you have any questions.

Yours sincerely

Simon Little
